Topic:

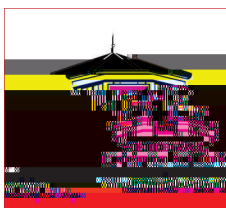

Neonatal Care in Developing Countries: A Report from Pakistan

Dr. Mubariz Naqvi is a Professor of Pediatrics and Division Head of Neonatology at the TTUHSC campus in Amarillo. He received his medical doctorate from Dow Medical University in Karachi, Pakistan after which he completed his Pediatric Residency at the Children's Hospital of Michigan in Detroit. Following his residency he completed a fellowship in Neonatal-Perinatal Medicine at Wayne State University in Detroit, MI.

Dr. Naqvi is interested in medical education and clinical care in neonatology. This interest extends to working closely with parents of neonatal patients. In addition he serves as a mentor for medical student research projects as well as organizes community outreach education for rural hospitals in the Texas Panhandle. His interest in global health includes Neonatology education in developing countries.
